POLITICAL.

Blaine's Address.

NEW YORK, [illegible] Mr. Blaine [illegible]

[illegible] fraudulent government [illegible] Maine that [illegible] the people in the pending election [illegible] willing or unwilling [illegible] the state [illegible] the legislature was fraudulently counted out [illegible] and his council [illegible] seats to which they were elected by the people and spurious members installed in their places as if it had not been for the interposition of a judiciary opinion of the supreme court asked in a perfectly regular and constitutional manner and an answer given by that tribunal which destroyed the conspiracy against the rights of the people, an opinion of court so strong in its discussion of the elementary principles of republican government, so able and so comprehensive that it secured the admiration of a much wider circle than those directly interested in its conclusion. In the pending election there [illegible] the most important local question is that of sustaining an honest and independent judiciary, and in addition to this important issue, the election of 1882 involves many questions of national importance, questions which deeply affect the prosperity of the people of Maine, and whoever neglects to make his influence felt in the pending campaign disregards the interests which pertain to his own future and his own fireside. The choice of four representatives in congress and of a legislature that shall appoint a senator of the United States brings directly before the people every issue involved in the administration of the national government upon every question on which parties divide in this country. The interest of the people of Maine must lead them after sober second thought to support the republican party. By the spread of manufacturing industries, by the growth of agricultural interests the people of Maine become every year more and more interested in the maintenance of a protective tariff. No candid man believes that a protective tariff will be upheld for a single year if the opponents of the republican party should come into power and by so much as any voter in Maine helps to elevate free traders to power by so much he aids to imperil the manufacturing and agricultural interests of the state, and not less so in the matter of ship building. Two out of every three candid free traders outside of New England will probably declare that if their party was in power they would at once proceed to admit foreign built ships to American registry, and would break down what they term the odious monopoly of the coasting trade. Causes which need not here be enumerated have imposed a long list of hardships upon the navigation interests of the country, but the free trade party is the only one which has proposed to alleviate this hardship by the destruction of the navigation interests themselves.

On consideration of the third point Blaine says the legislature to be elected will have the important power of appointing a senator of the United States. Every republican knows in advance he is voting for Frye and that nothing is to be left to the chance or uncertainty of a caucus. It is worth the zealous effort of all who cherish republican principles to see that Maine's position in the senate, now so honorable and so strong, will not be impaired or imperiled by the result of the pending election. Our prospects are so promising and the surrounding of the party [illegible] Maine so auspicious that we all have heart and courage for work in the campaign. Dissensions that distract republicans elsewhere are unknown among us and it may be our happy fortune by unity and victory to set an example to the republican party of the whole country and thus induce harmony and cooperation which are indispensable to success.

Kentucky Election.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 5.—Kentucky will elect a clerk of the court of appeals and each county chooses officers. Capt. T. J. Henry, democrat, and Col. R. T. A Split in the Bedford District.

BEDFORD, Md., Aug. 5.—The democrats of this second congressional district are alarmed at the announcement that A. J. PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The California department of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold their encampment in Santa Cruz, Aug. 12, 13 and 14.

Clara Garfield, an eight year old daughter of John Q. Garfield, was shot and mortally wounded last evening by Nellie McAuliffe, a fourteen year old servant girl in the employ of H. H. Colt, living at 1903 Broadway. From a statement by the girl, who is locked up in the city prison, it appears that yesterday Mr. Colt on returning home, sent her upstairs to obtain some article from a bureau. In searching for the required article she opened a drawer in which was a loaded pistol, and taking the weapon in her right hand she carelessly flourished it about her while she continued to search. While so engaged, the pistol in some manner was discharged, the bullet taking effect in the ear of the child who was sitting on the floor. Physicians say that the child cannot live.

Daniel McGlone, a native of California, aged 25 years, committed suicide at 220 Minna street last evening by blowing out his brains. Domestic troubles are assigned as the cause. He left a note saying that his wife, from whom he had been separated for some time, was the cause of the deed.

Attending surgeons say that Patrick Burns, the gambler who was shot Thursday night by Julian Pinto, a young attorney, will recover. At first his wounds were pronounced fatal and the symptoms are taking a favorable turn. Pinto is in custody awaiting the result of the injuries.

A Treaty with Mexico to be Made.

WASHINGTON, Aug. [illegible]—The president to-day nominated Gen. Grant and Wm. H. Trescott, late special envoy to Chili and Peru, to be a commission to negotiate a commercial treaty with Mexico. Several joint resolutions authorizing the appointment of such a commission were introduced at the beginning of the session, but none of them were acted upon. An appropriation of $20,000 to defray the expenses of the commission was made in the sundry civil bill and under the authority so conferred the president made the appointment.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The conference committee on the naval appropriation bill have agreed to the only clauses in controversy, which were in regard to closing navy yards. Senate conferees receded from their disagreement. As agreed upon the bill leaves the closing of the navy yards to the discretion of the secretary of the navy.

The house has agreed to a conference report on the sundry civil bill. Among the more important provisions agreed to is one giving the government of Utah authority to appoint officers to fill vacancies caused by a failure to elect, growing out of the disqualifying provisions in the anti polygamy bill; also the item appropriating $25,000 to transport the remains of Commander De Long and companions to this country.

The president has signed the legislative appropriation bill.

It is understood that the republican senatorial caucus yesterday decided almost unanimously to press the tax bill to a vote and, if possible, get a vote without amendment on the knit goods bill. This will delay adjournment indefinitely.

It is stated that the president has decided upon strict enforcement of the eight hour law as that law was construed during the administration of General Grant. Members of the cabinet, however, entertain different views on this subject. The attorney general in a recent opinion held that the present law was imperfect and its proper enforcement requires additional legislation. The secretary of the navy, on the other hand, demands under the existing law eight hours constitute a legal day and he says it might be enforced at the navy yards. The president is said to be of the same opinion as Chandler. No effort will be made to induce congress to legislate further upon the subject the present session.

The secretary of the treasury estimates that over $200,000,000 in bonds will be surrendered for exchange into new 3 per cents.

On offering an amendment the republican side refrained from debate in order to facilitate passage of the measure and steadily voted against any change which would necessitate return of the measure to the house. The bill finally passed without amendment and as it came from the house. Yeas [illegible], nays 15.

Yeas—Aldrich, Allison, Anthony, Bayard, Blair, Brown, Cameron of Pennsylvania, Cameron of Wisconsin, Chilcott, Conger, Davis of Illinois, Davis of West Virginia, Dawes, Ferry, Gorham, Hale, Harrison, Hawley, Hoar, Ingalls, Jonas, Jones of Nevada, Logan, McDill, McMillan, Mahone, Miller of California, Morrill, Pendleton, Platt, Rollins, Saunders, Sawyer, Sewell, Sherman and Windom—[illegible].

Pairs were announced between Frye, Miller of New York, Plumb and Kellogg in favor of the bill and Johnson, Groome, Jackson and Lamar absent. Before the vote was taken on passage of the bill considerable criticism was indulged in by its opponents based upon the fact that the section of the revised statutes proposed to be corrected was erroneously stated in consequence of an accidental omission of some figures. A member of the senate committee had supplied the omission, but all their amendments having been rejected the number of the section was still set forth as 25 instead of 2504.

Morrill said he was willing to take the risk and to leave the matter to the interpretation of secretary of the treasury.

Cockrell and Morgan complained that unless amended in this respect the act would be a fraud upon its face.

The motion to amend was rejected and the bill passed. The title which stated the number correctly was then agreed to.

The tax reduction bill then came up as unfinished business but was laid aside informally and house bill extending [illegible] of certain officers over the territories of New Mexico and Arizona was passed.

Wilson, of West Virginia, from the committee on foreign affairs submitted a report upon the power of the house to compel Shipherd to answer certain questions which he had declined to answer, and to produce certain evidence. The report was referred to the house calendar. It says that if copies of the correspondence and papers and other evidence referred to related to the private affairs of his company and counsel, it is respectfully suggested that this house has no authority to demand their production nor authority to punish witness for contempt for refusing to produce them. The report then reviews the fact of Kilbourn's case and quotes the decision of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in that case, and continues that under the decision of the supreme court the facts in Shipherd's case leave no jurisdiction in this matter but with a view to impeachment of some one of the officers named. The death of Hurlbut and Kilpatrick prevent any further proceedings against them, and the fact that Blaine is not an officer of the United States is believed to bar any attempt at impeachment, and as Blair is not a member of the house and it has no jurisdiction over any supposed conduct of his, so it would seem the demand for the Shipherd papers degenerates into an inquiry into the private affairs of a citizen. If this is true we cannot demand his papers nor impel him to answer questions. Believing that facts now existing make it improper to demand Shipherd's papers we respectfully recommend that Shipherd be discharged and his examination be proceeded with no further.

After recess the speaker laid before the house a message from the president transmitting the report of the secretary of state respecting American citizens imprisoned in Ireland. Referred. The secretary states that the persons alleged to be American citizens still in prison in Ireland are O'Mahony, McSweeney, Slattery and Gannon; that McSweeney and Slattery produced regular certificates of naturalization, Gannon established a claim to American birth and O'Mahony was irregularly naturalized on the ground of services in the navy. The report further states it appears by a note from Minister Lowell that Her Majesty's government does not entertain at present the intention of bringing those prisoners to trial, but offered them a discharge on condition that they leave Ireland for America, which was refused. Lowell has again [illegible] insist [illegible] a speedy trial.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.

The English Make a Reconnoissance to Learn Arabi's Strength.

THEY FIND OUT WITH A LOSS OF 31 KILLED AND WOUNDED.

Troops Still Being Sent to the Seat of War—The Sultan will not Proclaim Arabi Pasha a Rebel unless he Resists the Turkish Troops.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. [illegible]—In a reconnoissance this morning earthworks were found finished at a point on Mahmoudieh canal [illegible] the British [illegible] It is clear that Arabi [illegible] the defensive [illegible] at Kafr el Dwar [illegible] Allison also [illegible] the English [illegible] themselves [illegible] who appear [illegible] The health of the troops [illegible] Affairs at Port Said are quiet. [illegible] pounds for service [illegible] states that Arabi has about 6,000 Bedouins who will be sent to various parts on the coast. The sheik also says Arabi is in communication with the false prophet of Soudan and that when beaten he will not retire to Cairo but to Wady el Dakhel. Adds, who has just arrived from Cairo, states that there is a council of war every evening at the ministry of war in Cairo. All sub ministers except the sub minister [illegible] are still at their posts. No European shops are opened.

A Battle Raging.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 5—[illegible] P. M.—At [illegible] o'clock this afternoon the British troops with a number of field guns served by sailors attacked the advance guard of Arabi Pasha near Ramleh between the canal and the railroad, firing upon the enemy's position from three sides. The engagement, which is of a serious nature, still continues.

The British Withdraw.

11:30 P. M.—The object of the operations to-day was a reconnoissance in force. Commencing at 4 o'clock this afternoon a steady advance was made by marines upon the railroad line, the rifles upon the west bank of Mahmoudieh canal and the South Staffordshire regiment and mounted infantry upon the east bank. The enemy were driven in from all their advanced posts and compelled to bring into action all their troops available in front of their principal line of intrenchments at Kafr el Dwar, namely about four battalions of infantry, a force of cavalry and several guns. The latter were completely silenced by the accurate fire of our 40 pounder. The Egyptian infantry held their ground with considerable steadiness, but the marines on the railroad who were under the immediate command of Gen. Allison pushed the enemy back upon their second line of intrenchments towards Kafr el Dwar. The marines were supported by the South Staffordshire regiment and rifles. They suffered somewhat but behaved with the greatest calmness and steadiness under a heavy fire. The object of the British operations, which was to compel the enemy to display what force and what guns they had in front of their main position, was completely attained. This was ascertained by nightfall, when the British were slowly and steadily withdrawn. No accurate return of killed and wounded is as yet attainable. The enemy's loss is unknown. A large number of the wounded fell into the hands of the British and many dead were seen. A considerable number of the enemy were made prisoners. The British lately made a successful experiment with the 40 pounders mentioned, while mounted on an iron clad railway truck.

Another Account of Saturday's Battle.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 5.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon an armored train with Nordenfeldt guns and 40-pounders proceeded to Mahalla Junction carrying 1030 marines under Colonel Tewson, accompanied by Captain Fisher and Lieutenant Lambton. The expedition was joined from Ramleh by the 60th rifles and 38th regiment. The enemy soon appeared in great force and sent a shower of rifle shots into our troops or rather over their heads, while from behind their intrenchments they opened a brisk fire from field guns and made free use of rockets. The Nordenfeldt guns from the train made excellent practice in return and played havoc in the ranks of the enemy. The enemy's loss must have been severe. Orders have been issued that the reconnoissance will be resumed in the morning, but as the admiral proposes to send, under a flag of truce, through Arabi Pasha's camp to convey Midshipman Dechair's effects to Cairo, it is uncertain whether the reconnoissance will take place. It is not clear what object is to be gained by such maneuvers which expose our troops to the risk of heavy loss, and as they do not advance our position are doubtless represented by Arabi as victories over the English.

Official Report of the Battle.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The official report of Admiral Seymour concerning the encounter with the enemy of the reconnoissance party is as follows: Our force consisted of 200 men of the naval brigade, with one forty pounder and two nine pounder guns, under Capt. Fisher, 1000 marines under Col. Tuson, half a battalion of the 38th and 46th regiments and all the 60th regiment. We had a skirmish with the enemy, which was 2000 strong with six guns and six rockets, from half past five until half past seven o'clock in the evening. The total casualties to the naval brigade and marines are 2 killed and [illegible] wounded. The following is General Allison's report: Persistent native reports existing during the past few days that Arabi Pasha was returning from Kafr el Dwar and was upon Damanhour, I determined upon a reconnoissance to ascertain clearly whether Arabi still held his original position strongly. The left column commenced to advance at 4:45 P. M., from the advance pickets at Ramleh, the lines moving by both banks of the Mahmoudieh canal, and soon came into action with the enemy, who was strongly posted in a group of palm trees on the eastern side and in strong defensible houses and gardens on the other side. Their positions were carried. At this time Lieut. Vyse of the 60th and one soldier was killed. The enemy then took a second position half a mile in the rear upon the east bank of the canal, among high crops and houses and behind the irregular bank of the canal. From this position the enemy were driven with great loss. I accompanied the right column myself. As soon as the enemy observed us they opened fire with artillery. I pushed on as rapidly as possible till I reached a point where the railway approached nearest Mahmoudieh canal and then opened a most terrific fire upon the enemy lining the banks of the canal. Two nine pounders were dragged on the embankment and came into action against the enemy's guns, the forty pounder firing over our heads against a point where the enemy's forces were beginning to appear. I now threw forward two companies to a search house near the canal and followed up by throwing four companies still more to my left upon the bank of and across the canal, thus attaining a position I wished and thus forming a diagonal line across both canal and railway.

The enemy retired slowly before us and five of their seven pounders and nine centimetre guns were speedily got under by our artillery. The object of my reconnoissance was obtained and I determined to withdraw. This movement was carried out with the most perfect regularity and precision. The troops fell back by alternate companies with the regularity of a field day. Every attempt by the enemy to advance was crushed by the beautiful precision of the forty pounder and steady firing of the nine pounders.

The losses of the enemy appear to have been very great and they were so dispirited that contrary to the usual practice of Asiatics, they made no attempt to follow up our withdrawal. As a reconnoissance the success of our move was all I could wish. I regret to state our loss was somewhat heavy. Lieut. Vyse was one of the most promising officers I ever met. Our total loss was four killed and 13 wounded.

Stampede at Suez.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 5.—No Indian troops but only marines and sailors from British ships lying in the roads were disembarked at Suez. An immediate stampede of Egyptian troops and the Arabic population took place and from the decks of steamers crowds of natives were seen hurrying across the desert. Trains were crowded even to the roofs of the carriages. The facility with which occupation was effected affords circumstantial proof that if a couple of thousand men had been landed in Alexandria directly after the bombardment much of the lives and property sacrificed would have been saved. It is reported at Ismailia that Arabi Pasha has ordered four thousand troops to approach the canal.

Notes from Port Said.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

[illegible] Aug. 6.—The Herald's London correspondent [illegible] The united opinion of Irish [illegible] is that the proceedings of [illegible] in Egypt are most unwar[illegible] who has not taken his [illegible] since the death of his sister [illegible] the present [illegible] at Alexandria [illegible] apparently the [illegible] with a long series of plans [illegible] government agents in the east [illegible] is largely due to the overhearing the [illegible] for a number of years [illegible] determination [illegible] long [illegible] the Egyptian treasury [illegible] who are unnecessary [illegible] It is difficult to tell where [illegible] Anyhow it is likely to [illegible] involving half of Europe.

Healy says the operations of government in this affair will not bear the slightest investigation. The war was a premeditated attack on a weak [illegible] grew out of the [illegible] and bullyism of Europe [illegible] in Egypt. The bombardment of Alexandria is the most infamous proceeding on record. If England should [illegible] a serious general disturbance the time will arrive for Ireland to demand the rights that will [illegible] in securing home rule or [illegible] measures of repression similar to those of 1798. He did not believe government dares go to that extreme now. A repetition of that slaughter must move the American government to some form of action. The worse the trouble in the east the better for Ireland, which will not be slow to take advantage of her opportunities.

O'Donnell, the most thoroughly posted member of parliament on the troubles in Egypt, says the present condition of affairs is due to public opinion, persistently stirred by such men as Sir Auckland Colvin, Edward Malet, Alphonzo Mouri and others, and England moved heaven and earth to get fairly embarked in war before the country had time to forbid. He believed when the Turks landed they would receive the instant homage of Arabi and that the followers of the two armies would immediately amalgamate and prevent the advance of the English. Further action by her majesty's forces would be a wanton act of bringing down all Europe. He thought that efforts to coerce the sultan in declaring Arabi a rebel would be sure to bring a general rupture. A great diplomatic struggle is now progressing in Constantinople. England stands alone and the other powers will not consent to these operations, damage has already resulted from their blind operation and the English must hereafter submit to the voice of Europe. If they refuse to hear to reason the result will be a general war. Russia is already very hostile and India is in a state of suppressed excitement. The situation is one of the utmost gravity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Tribune's London: It is surmised that the distrust of England shown by certain of the powers is fictitious and that Turkey is being egged on from interested motives, that immediately after she became occupied in Egypt, especially in opposition to England, Russia would find easier access into the Turkish empire and Austria to Salonica. A conflict between England and Turkey means the absolute ruin of the Turkish empire. Russia affects to believe that England wants Egypt, which she refuses unless for the price of the Bosphorus. Italy's present dubious action would be favorably changed toward England if Rome were offered a share of Egyptian control. The professed surprise in European capitols at English occupation of Suez in anticipation of the Italian proposal to the conference is hardly reasonable. British action is simply corollary to the arrival of Indian troops. This unostentatious energy of England since she commenced action is increasing her prestige, especially in Germany. The punctual ease of the dispatch of troops to Egypt is in striking contrast to the strain of the French expedition to Tunis.

The public are much amused with Cetewayo. Though arriving too late to become the lion of the season and though officials desire as little fuss as possible, he is an interesting object. His popular quaint remarks and good humor are rousing sympathy and may lead the government to regret bringing him unless they mean to restore him. He has had no official reception but the queen sees him next week. He fondly hopes to argue his claims to restoration before her.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—World's London: The Earl of Dunraven's many friends in America will be sorry to hear he has been very ill, but is now better. Mrs. Langtry is ill, so ill that she is unable to keep her immediate engagements, which consequently have been cancelled. Edward A. Freeman has a long yarn in the current number of Fortnightly called Impressions of America. He says he was struck while there by the strange ignorance of people with regard to English manners and more especially with their ignorance of English geography. He instances his being asked whether Lincolnshire was on the west side or east side of England and whether the county of Somerset derived its name from the Dukes of Somerset. He promises a second article of smaller detail.

Harvest operations are going on this week in all southern counties. The weather is extremely favorable and the yield is much better than has been anticipated. It now turns out that the heavy rains of June and July, from which so much disaster had been feared, did very little damage except upon wet soil. I have seen finer crops of wheat cut during the last few days than has been seen for four years past. From midland counties reports are still gloomy, but the present fine weather must be making wonderful difference everywhere. Farmers in Sussex, Surrey and Kent are radiant for the first time since 1878.

PARISIAN COMMENTS.

Opinions of Leading Frenchmen on the Egyptian Question—France Generally Opposed to England's Course.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The Herald's Paris cable contains interviews with prominent politicians on the Egyptian question. It says Clemenceau, to whom most honor is due for overthrow of the ministry and who to-day is the most prominent politician in France, in referring to the present diplomatic embarrassments says: "In a few days the policy of England will find itself face to face with great difficulty, and these Frenchmen who are mostly decided in their leanings toward intervention and who are the most ardent admirers of Gladstone's cabinet will be obliged to take in their horns. The first point worthy of attention is the persistency with which England maintains her policy of intervention in Egypt without aid or ally. Then comes the persistence of the sultan in refusing to proclaim Arabi a rebel before disembarkation of Turkish troops. The sultan is ready to see a rebel in Arabi if he fires on his troops, but as long as he simply annoys Admiral Seymour he can't do anything. Notice also the increasing difficulties in England's relations with Russia. The foreign office at St. Petersburg has not forgotten that England refused a victorious Russian army the gates of Constantinople, which the treaty of San Stefano had opened to it. On the other hand the English cabinet is spurred on by unanimous public opinion so as to render it impossible for it to come to an amicable understanding with the porte, and it looks as if the crisis would soon become complicated by a conflict between the two powers, a conflict of frightful gravity and one whose ulterior consequences it is impossible to forecast."

Gambetta said the vote of last Saturday in the chamber rendered it impossible for any ministry to stand that does not adopt as the basis of its programme total abstention in Egypt and throughout the world a complete suppression of foreign politics, but there is not a single public man of any value who does not disbelieve such a resolution. By that vote the chamber simply declared itself incompetent from ignorance. As to Turkey and England, the worst thing the sultan can do for himself and the Ottoman empire is to play false to the London government, unless of course, it is made perfectly clear that Russia will assist her late enemy. In that case Bismarck will have something to say, and inasmuch as his efforts are invariably opposed to those of France Germany will oppose whatever we determine. As to the accusation that Gladstone aims at setting up a British protectorate without regard or provision for development of a genuine Egyptian nationality I can not say anything, now England has repeatedly denied it, but this time her assertions are not believed.

Henri R[illegible] says the new prime minister, whoever he may be, must form close alliance with Russia and if necessary allow the latter to go to Constantinople. It must also conciliate Italy by withdrawing the army from Tunis and renounce its protectorate over that country, and likewise make a friend of Spain by allowing her to take Morocco.

[illegible] says: For France it is to-day as much menaced by Germany as Egypt by the English.

[illegible] correspondent finds first a large [illegible] opposed to England and but for fear of Bismarck [illegible] Gladstone will have to call off his war dogs [illegible] of all shades ask me why [illegible] press publishes all [illegible] doings in Egypt. The Daily Oregonian

MONDAY MORNIN , AUGUST 7, 18 2.

A REMINISCENCE.

An utterance of the president a few days since upon the subject of political assessments is paraded by the organs of the spoilsmen as a complete and satisfactory answer to all the criticisms upon the administration for its tolerance and encouragement of Hubbell's blackmailing methods. The subject came up in cabinet meeting, and the president took occasion to refer, for a statement of his position, to his letter of July 15, 1880, in which he accepted the nomination for the vice-presidency. In that letter he said: "I will add that by the acceptance of public office, whether high or low, one does not, in my judgment, escape any of his responsibility as a citizen, or lose or impair any of his rights as a citizen, and that he should enjoy absolute liberty to think and speak and act in political matters according to his own will and conscience, provided that he honorably, faithfully and fully discharges all his official duties." To this he added on the recent occasion referred to, that "no persons in any of the departments declining to contribute shall on that account be subject to discharge or criticism, and no attempt to injure him on that ground will be tolerated." These last are very fair-seeming words. They read well. But when the organs of bossism say they "leave carpers within the republican party no peg to hang an objection on," they exhibit a characteristic inability to see the force of the real objections to the practice as part of the machine system.

It is probably true that no employe of the government ever was openly dismissed for refusing to pay a political assessment. And yet, it has been done often, and will be done many times more. In a service where there is a constant struggle for place it is easy enough to make excuses for changing employes. One who refuses to pay his assessment can easily be placed on a black list, and a good chance will soon be found for dismissing him. When a subordinate is unfortunate enough to incur the displeasure of his chief a recommendation for dismissal is almost invariably approved. It is believed that those who pay their assessments will have better chance of holding their places than those who do not. The employes themselves think so; and hence they pay the amounts just as they would pay for so much insurance. Those who make these levies take care to say in their circulars that there is no objection to the proceeding in any official quarter—meaning thereby that President Arthur approves the act, and some of the circulars which have been sent out heretofore have closed with this reminder, viz.: "Please remit promptly. At the close of the campaign we shall place a list of those who have not paid in the hands of the department you are in." This is simple robbery, and so long as the practice on which it is based is tolerated men who refuse the summons to "stand and deliver" will be dismissed from their places," in spite of the fair-seeming assurances of the president to the contrary.

It is curious to look back a little, into the history of the subject. During Buchanan's administration the house of representatives ordered an inquiry into the abuses of this method of collecting money for political purposes. It was part of the general duty of the famous Covode investigation committee. Eager to bring out the whole abuse to the attention of the country, in order to pile up material for the condemnation of the democratic party, the republicans who conducted the investigation marched all the departments through and through. They found that in all the branches of the public service this system of collecting money for political purposes, to be used, as the committee indignantly declared, to defeat the will of the people, was going on; that it was done with the aid of the heads of bureaus and departments, and that even President Buchanan himself had been consulted on the subject, and had lent his assistance to make the effort as thorough and exhaustive as possible. Men who failed to pay as much as their official superiors thought they ought were removed promptly, and more obedient instruments were appointed. The money thus raised was mostly used in the effort to save Pennsylvania to the democratic party. A republican committee of investigation rightly called the proceeding an outrage and infamy. Publication of the facts made a deep impression on the country. It was a powerful count in the general indictment of the democratic party. Is the practice any better now than it was then? Might not the republican party well eschew this evil, on which it presented so powerful an arraignment of the democratic party more than twenty years ago? Time, certainly, has not converted the evil into good.

MORE FOR AMUSEMENT THAN FOR INSTRUCTION.

Mr. Frothingham, who discussed the "Ethics of Gambling" in the last number of the North American, laments that we pay more to be amused than to be instructed, and it is a fact that the people of the United States pay more to be amused than people of any other part of the world. Mr. "Tug" Wilson, who amused fifteen thousand New Yorkers at a dollar per head by being knocked down twenty-seven times, a few days ago, says that this is "the pugilist's paradise," but it is also the paradise of actors and singers as well. Nowhere do the great luminaries of the stage shine for such a golden reward as in the United States. Bernhardt made more money here in one season than she had earned in all her previous career. Nilsson has no sooner fallen to the verge of poverty than she sets out for America to recover her fortune, and Mrs. Langtry is so impatient to reap an American harvest of gold that she cannot wait until she has fairly made the acquaintance of her own people before she sails for New York. Mr. Irving, too, can no longer resist the temptation to enrich himself by a professional tour in the United States. One thing is true, namely, if we pay more than any other people on earth to be amused, we are entitled to the best amusements, and managers have no right to ask high prices for an entertainment by one star of the first magnitude surrounded by a constellation whose members are so small as to be almost invisible. Another consideration is that if moralists like Mr. Frothingham observe that the passion for amusement is so strong on the part of the American people that they pay extravagantly to gratify it, the reformers should attempt to work through that passion for the education and elevation of the people, instead of expending their energy in deploring its existence.

THE LEAGUE OF DELIVERANCE.

The anti-Chinese sentiment is general in California, and is divided into as many different classes as there are grades of society. The vicious and blockhead classes have organized a "League of Deliverance," which has for its avowed purpose the ousting of the Chinese from the city. Its principal measures are:

First—A visiting committee, which goes from house to house, and ascertains by personal inspection whether any one employs Chinese labor. Those who do are placed on a "black list," and are warned to discharge their Mongolian help within a certain time.

Second—An information committee, who call upon traders and dealers and request them to dismiss all Chinese in their employ. In case they refuse to comply, their names are printed in large type and placarded throughout the district. In some cases a man is placed in front of the store with a signboard on his back warning persons against dealing with the firm within, and posters or "dodgers" to the same effect are pasted on the sidewalk and generally distributed.

Third—Special committees of various sorts. Some of these see that the ordinances against the Chinese are enforced, and stir up the officers of the law to their duty. Others exact pledges of firms and individuals not to employ Chinese labor, or use or sell any products of Chinese manufacture; others still interview property owners, to induce them to "evict" their Chinese tenants.

These methods are repugnant to the better classes of people, of course, and already the league has become disreputable. Notoriously idle persons compose the information, visiting and other committees, and their impertinence is becoming intolerable.

HARVESTS AND CROPS.

Harvesting is nearly done in eastern Oregon and Washington, and is well under way throughout the Willamette and Umpqua valleys. The weather is all that could be desired, and there is hardly a possibility that the crop will not be secured in fine condition. Reports from various localities say that the yield is better than indications promised before harvesting commenced, and it is probable that estimates of the total yield have been under, rather than above, the mark. The greater part of the wheat crop of the United States has been harvested, and it is confidently predicted that it will amount to 500,000,000 bushels, the greatest in the history of the country. As it requires but 250,000,000 bushels to feed our population and sow next year's crop, half of this year's product will be available for export. In 1880 England imported 67,500,000 bushels of our wheat, her annual requirement being 200,000,000 bushels, 83,500,000 of which she raises herself in an average year. It may trouble us to find a satisfactory market for such a vast surplus of wheat as 250,000,000 bushels. Besides wheat the barley and oat crops are now almost safe. Their growth has been luxuriant, and the heads of those grains are full as well as long. A succession of heavy storms might hurt them, but they are too far advanced to suffer much from drought, which at present is far more probable than heavy storms. The hay crop is also safe. That is, the growth has been all that could be wished, and much of it is now safely in the barn. And that which is yet to be cut cannot be injured by drought, and is not very likely to be injured by rain.

It appears, therefore, that we are already sure of a large harvest, as to some of the most important crops. Corn, potatoes and cotton are the only important crops as to which there is much uncertainty. Corn is growing so rapidly that many predict a yield of 1,700,000,000 bushels, and if there is no severe drought and no early frost it may be greater. Potatoes, which were so poor a crop last year, are in fine condition now, and have no perils but those of corn. Cotton is not equal to the crop of last year at the same date, although last year's crop was far below that of 1880, but it is rapidly improving, and the south is growing more grain than ever before, so that the southern harvest is likely to be generous in the aggregate. The whole matter may be summed up by saying that we are now sure of about one-half of a great harvest, and have abundant reason to be hopeful as to the other half. If the little war which now disturbs Europe should develop into a big one, our measure of prosperity would be full.

ENGLAND'S EGYPTIAN JOB.

England is very slow with her preparations for subjugation of Egypt. The signs are that she will have to conquer the united Egyptian nation, since it is apparent that the khedive has no authority or influence over the people. How formidable the Egyptian army will prove to be is as yet a matter of conjecture, even with the English; but the climate and the face of the country will prove serious obstacles to the invader. It is conceded by the London Times that Arabi Bey's troops have excellent arms. There are Remington rifles in abundance, good field batteries and the best of horses for cavalry service. Besides, there are armories in the country, where all arms and ammunition required may be made. The Bedouins supply a numerous and excellent light cavalry, and a system of military organization imitated from Europe provides a well-trained regular army—not indeed able to cope with English battalions in pitched battle, but still by no means a contemptible foe. Now also the annual rise of the Nile is at hand, and this, together with the numerous lakes in Lower Egypt, will greatly assist the defense of the country. Then when the flood has subsided and the wet soil is under the hot sun, the unhealthy season comes on. No doubt England has a big job on her hands. But the talk of proclaiming a holy war—or war in which all Moslems are to come, to the defense of their brethren and the faith against the aggressor—seems idle enough. Interest in commerce renders even mohammedans averse in these days to the follies and sacrifices of a religious crusade. And besides, battalions, discipline and steady courage are the instruments of modern war.

Official notice is published that the governor will hear an application for the pardon of Timothy Wheelan, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county some months ago. Wheelan wantonly and out of devilish malignity cut the throat of a woman with whom he had improper and unlawful relations. She did not die, but her escape from death was a narrow one. Wheelan is now in his proper place. Such cases are excellent ones to withhold clemency from.

Builders too often abuse the grant of "the usual privileges" of street use made by the council. Many of our streets are so occupied by lumber piles, mortar boxes and heaps of brick that passage of pedestrians and teams is inconvenient and delayed. Material should be piled inside the walls and not in the streets. The council has grown careless in voting away the use of the streets.

A considerable force of British troops went out from Alexandria to reconnoitre. They wanted to find whether Arabi had any forces in that quarter. They were like the man who blew into the muzzle of a gun to ascertain if it was loaded, and found it was. After a protracted fight the British found it expedient to return to Alexandria.

Within the past week some thousands of Chinamen have been discharged from the fisheries, and most of them are now in this city. The greater number of the transient fishermen took passage by the last two outgoing steamers for San Francisco. A few have gone to southern Oregon rivers.

Beecher's article, "Progress of Modern Religious Thought," has been severely attacked by the pulpit, though no one has yet essayed to answer it. It is much easier to call the Brooklyn preacher a sensationalist than to match pens with him.

Schedule time between St. Paul and Portland, distance 1916 miles, will be four days. The time between New York and this city will be between five and six days. And we have but one more year to wait.

Ordinances prohibiting the dumping of refuse matter into the streets are not properly enforced. The gutters in too many places are disgusting and noisome sewage ways.

CITY.

INSANE THROUGH FRIGHT.—In crossing the San Francisco bar, last Thursday, the steamship [illegible] shipped a heavy sea, and two passengers in the steerage became insane through the fright occasioned by the occurrence. One of them, Mrs. Bridget [illegible], was on the way to Oregon to join her husband, James O'Rourke, who she says is [illegible] living in this city. When the steamer arrived she was quite violent, but when taken in custody by the police, became more rational and was sent to St. Vincent's hospital with her three children, all of whom are too small to understand the calamity which has befallen their mother. During the day, at the hospital, her mania again became strong and it was feared she might do some damage to herself. The police were again notified of her condition, and in the evening she was brought back to the station and placed in the woman's cell. Since her arrival there she has never ceased to stand by the door crying and talking to herself. At times she speaks louder and her delusion is that her husband is just outside the door and will not listen to her entreaties to set her free. The police have made inquiries as to the whereabouts of her husband, but as yet have been unable to find him. Her children remain at the hospital, where they will be taken care of for the present. The other passenger who lost his reason was E. Temple, a man of middle age, who came from Nebraska with his wife and three children, the eldest a girl of 14 years. His mania is harmless, being an entire lack of all reasoning power. His wife is able to take good care of him, and the family went to the National hotel where they are still stopping. They have friends in eastern Oregon where they intend to settle. Both cases are thought to be only temporary aberration, which time and care will remove.

CHILD DROWNED FROM THE FERRY.—Last night a few minutes before ten, a babe's carriage containing the child of George Harold, went overboard from the Albina ferry and the child was drowned. It was impossible, owing to the late hour, to get exact particulars, and two versions of the sad accident are [illegible]. The ferry was approaching the Portland [illegible] and touched against the piling which extends [illegible] into the river and stopped. Mr. Harold [illegible] near-sighted, supposing the boat had [illegible] the landing started off the apron, which was [illegible] with a chain, pushing the buggy ahead [illegible] the man and the vehicle fell overboard. Mr. Harold was rescued with great difficulty, but the buggy with the child sank to the bottom. [illegible] was commenced without delay, but as the [illegible] point is deep some time elapsed before [illegible] secured. At midnight the body had [illegible] recovered and further search was delayed [illegible]. Officers of the boat say that Mr. [illegible] the buggy too near the side of the apron [illegible] the boat touched the piles the slight jar [illegible]. Mr. Harold is a German, was formerly [illegible], and lives at the corner of Sixth and [illegible]; he is now engaged in the county assessor's [illegible]. The child was a girl, about nine months old, [illegible] Mr. Harold's by adoption.

When [illegible] the man gave his name as [illegible], claimed that he was not asleep [illegible] money when the policeman [illegible] for his bail after he sobered [illegible] his way rejoicing.

This is the first shipment [illegible] into Montana from the Pacific coast [illegible] Northern railroad put a prohibitory [illegible] by the Central Pacific.

ACCIDENTS.

Freaks of the Lightning.

[illegible], Aug. 6.—Times' Kickapoo special: Mrs. [illegible] with a sixteen-year old son, a little [illegible] colored girl, were on the porch of her [illegible] yesterday, when the lightning struck a [illegible] feet away, and ran down the trunk, then followed on the exposed root of the tree to the [illegible] instantly killing the boy and the colored girl, who were at opposite ends of the veranda, and severely shocking the woman and the child.

FROM THE FRONT.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

CABINET LANDING, Aug. 1.

Several Chinamen have been killed by blasts during the last week.

THE OREGONIAN is eagerly looked for, being a sort of panacea to hours of loneliness.

The postoffice and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office have moved to Rock Island.

The news of Powers' commutation seems to give general satisfaction in these parts.

Fred Kimble caught a salmon trout last week weighing a little more than ten pounds.

The slaughter pen, with its aromatic odor, has been removed from the depot to Elk creek.

Mr. J. N. Fordyce, the accommodating assistant superintendent, has been paying off the boys on the line.

Mr. McLaughlin, of the company's stores, has returned from Portland, where he had been on business.

A falling tree, struck by lightning some three weeks ago, fell on a Chinaman, killing him instantly.

Mrs. Green, who was very sick, is now convalescent, and has gone to Cheney on a visit to her parents to recuperate.

Everything quiet now at the front. The town having rid itself of a set of good-for-nothing characters, no embroglios have occurred.

Sheriff Kinney, of Missoula county, visited Cabinet during last week, officially. Mr. Kinney appointed Fred Reed, of Rock Island, deputy sheriff.

The forests along the line are on fire, having been struck by lightning. Many trees are being prostrated by fire, making traveling by train hazardous.

Mr. N. V. Sheffer, who had charge of the ferry at this place, has bought the Flathead river ferry, between Missoula and Thompson river, on the Mullan road.

Cabinet is to have a depot and warehouse. Workmen are engaged at present in clearing the grounds. Lumber is being brought here to be used in its completion.

John Lore, a teamster in the employ of the N. P. Co., was thrown from his wagon on the first of this week, and sustained a dislocation of his wrist. He also received some internal injuries.

Cabinet stands forlorn. Every one is gone to the front. The company's hospital is still here. It will not move till the boat is finished, then it will be removed as far as the boat can navigate. All cases in the hospital are doing well. Perry, who had his skull crushed by a rock, is able to be about some. Hagan, who had his leg badly injured, is at present doing well and may escape amputation.

Philip Horton has been missing for some three weeks. The last seen of him he stated to his companion that he was going out hunting. Since then no tidings have been received from him. The supposition is that he wandered off in the woods, got lost and perished. He was a Frenchman and worked at the cobbler's trade. His trunk, tools, papers, books, and all his personal effects are here intact. Two letters were found on his table, dated July 10th. It is supposed that was the date on which he left. He was a single man and not given to intemperance. Among his papers was found an honorable discharge from the French army.

Again I arise to say something about our mail facilities. Your correspondent has read carefully Hon. Ben. Simpson's article, "Through to Missoula." He touches very lightly on the matter of mail facilities. One place only does he mention at which a postoffice may be established, Thompson's Falls. This move may benefit those who are so far off in that neighborhood; and again, when the mails do arrive at that point, 'twill be almost as bad as it is now. The only established postoffice is at Sand Point. Here all letters addressed to the men along the line are put into a sack without lock or key, and any one and every one has a right to overhaul it. A day or so ago your writer, on a visit to Sand Point, noticed some peculiarities with the mail. When the construction train arrived at Hope station, two parties came in, opened the sack and looked through the mails, throwing letters right and left. At Cabinet Landing the same performance was gone through with. Of course, no blame can possibly be attached to any of the railroad officials, for they get no compensation for the carrying of the same. When the train arrives at Elk creek they receive the same handling, and so it goes until they are handed to Mr. Roberts, at the front, who does all in his power to assort and send them to their respective foremen. Of course, mail matter gets badly handled and abused; some of the letters, prior to reaching the addressed, are torn, while the wrappers of newspapers are gone and addresses cannot be found. There is only one way to remedy the defect, and that is to send postal clerks with the mails. There are some 2000 men along the line, who have a right to see that their letters are taken care of. The postoffice department is just as able to look out for the interest of its patrons as Wells, Fargo & Co. They send their messengers through, and all letters and parcels reach their destination in safety. Many valuable letters are lost by mail, causing trouble and dissatisfaction.

NOTES FROM A SUMMER RESORT.

ASTORIA, Aug. 5th.

I was one of a party of twenty ladies and gentlemen who went down on the General Miles to Fort Stevens to spend the day with Captain White and [illegible]. The [illegible] party arrived [illegible] the day [illegible] and [illegible] were dispersed about the grassy sward under the tall pines, some swinging, others playing croquet, while the more sedate [illegible] down to a game of whist in the shade of a [illegible]. At [illegible] the floating target was towed out into the bay a distance of about [illegible] yards, and the party [illegible] across the moat to see the artillery practice. There were five guns in readiness for practice—two eight-inch rifled guns, two [illegible] Parrotts and a fifteen-inch Rodman, carrying a 400-pound shell. The first shot was from one of the eight-inch guns, and fell about 200 yards short, without exploding the shell, [illegible] was an excellent line shot. The next was from a ten-inch gun, and the screaming missile towered into the air and burst into a white cloud nearly 100 yards past the target, though fired true to the line. The third shot was a curious affair, fired from an eight-inch gun and elevated at about fourteen degrees. The deadly missile had gone scarcely 300 yards on its way when it exploded and scattered its fragments in every direction. The fourth shot was from a ten-inch gun and fell short of the target and a trifle to the right. Then came the big Rodman with forty-eight pounds of powder. It took four men to carry the shell from the stack up to the muzzle of the gun, and then a block and tackle were brought into requisition to hoist it up to the muzzle of the gun. Then it was rammed home, the men stood clear and Captain White gave the order to fire.

A deafening roar came from the great monster's throat as the gunner pulled the lanyard, and the solid cliffs below Scarborough hill reverberated the crash, while the monstrous shell tore through the cleaving air with a scream like an enraged demon. A white cloud of smoke appeared above the target and fragments of the monstrous shell fell all around it as a dull report rang out on the air and echoed along the north shore, seemingly [illegible] miles. A tiny fishing boat then glided past the target. She could not have been over 200 yards away when the monster shell burst. The hour of noon having arrived Capt. White took his guests up to his quarters, and set them out a fine collation, after which I strolled over the beach to the lighthouse at Point Adams. The firing was resumed after dinner and kept up until a fragment from a shell cut the moorings of the target and it drifted up the bay towards Astoria, which put an end to the firing.

A good story comes across here from the Seaside house, where a gay company are staying and passing away the time delightfully. Among the guests of the house is the son of a wealthy stock-breeder of Eastern Oregon, whose father is possessed of "cattle upon a thousand hills." The young man is quite reduced by malaria and spends the most of his time on the porch, sniffing the cool sea-breezes. Of course the young man has great expectations and is regarded as a grand prize in the matrimonial lottery.

One of the young ladies in the house, who is very highly cultivated as a musician and a linguist, resolved to show this youthful "bunchgrass millionaire" that she possessed other accomplishments than those taught at St. Helen's hall. Accordingly, one morning last week, just as the bunch-grass youth took his station on the front porch, the young lady came out while the cows were nibbling the grass on the lawn. She was dressed in a polka-dot calico gown and a gipsy hat, and a prettier dairy-maid never was seen, as she tripped across the lawn with a tin pail in one hand and a milking stool in the other. Selecting one of the herd which stood more quietly than the rest, she walked up and began patting the animal on the neck, without noticing that the bovine had rather short horns and a curly forehead, as well as a heavy crest. She patted this one and said "So bossy."

"Boo—oo—oo—oo," responded the bovine animal of the beef persuasion.

"So boss, suke, sukey," pleaded the young lady.

"Boo—oo—oo—oo," reiterated the proprietor of the powder horns and other jewelry.

The young lady put down her stool and took her seat. Just as she was about to place the pail between her prayer-bones, the invalid on the porch broke in a loud guffaw, exclaiming:

"Oh gosh, sis, will you never let go?"

The patriarch walked off to join the sisters of his flock as the young lady sought the seclusion of her boudoir, where she gave way to an uncontrollable flood of tears. Thus perish all our hearts' fondest hopes! Thus is the soul left desolate and bare!

The young man from Heppner returned to Astoria that afternoon and took the steamer for San Francisco the next morning. The young lady will never recover from this rude shock to her delicate nerves—in fact, she thinks of entering a convent on her return to Portland. In the long and weary years of celibacy to which she is now doomed, memory will bring back to her the grassy lawn, with the clear sky overhead, cloudless as the smile of the infinite himself; and the deep blue sea stretching far away, dotted with a thousand white-winged messengers of commerce, bearing their peaceful errands to and fro. And as her saddened heart recalls the halcyon picture of that fair July morn at Clatsop.

"The eye that strains to watch
Will tell, through falling tears,
How passing fair they shone,
How dusk have grown the years."

GRIZZLY.

BAKER CITY NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

BAKER CITY, Aug. 3.

A fire company was organized here during the week.

Lots in Atwood's addition to Baker City are being rapidly disposed of.

Mr. Glenn O. Holman and family are rusticating in the Pocahontas mountains.

Kaufman, Haas & Durkheimer have shipped 140,000 pounds of wool this season.

The faces of quite a number of commercial travelers are seen on our streets daily.

John Palmer starts a new harness shop here next week. That will make two in the place.

A nugget weighing $83 25 was picked up by a Mr. Cooper in the Pocahontas district last week.

Several teams from Canyon City and vicinity are here to take away purchases of bacon, flour, etc.

Real estate is rising very rapidly here now, and quite an amount of property changes hands weekly.

Mr. James Virtue's residence is being rapidly pushed to completion. It will be a beautiful structure.

The Cosmopolitan hotel is full to overflowing all the time. The new hotel was not commenced too soon.

Business is fairly active, but September, October and November are Baker City's best business months.

The M. E. conference north will convene here on the 10th of this month. Bishop Hurst of New Jersey will preside.

Judge C. C. Goodwin, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune is in town. He is trying to negotiate for the Mammoth mine.

Dr. J. Gussenhoven, from Wisconsin, has located here. His wife arrived on the 1st and was on the stage that was robbed this side of Kelton.

Dr. F. A. Bowen and wife, nee Miss Lottie Clever, left on the 2d for Prineville where the doctor intends to locate if pleased with that place.

The foundation of the new brick hotel is now laid. Mr. Smith, formerly manager of the St. Charles restaurant of your city, is one of the proprietors.

Leon Kaufman, formerly of your city, is bookkeeper for Kaufman, Haas & Durkheimer of this place. Samuel Durkheimer is also in the employ of the same firm.

The Nellie Boyd combination has been playing in this city to crowded houses. They go from here to Boise City. Anything of a good troupe is always well patronized here.

The placer mining season has been very short, owing to an insufficiency of water, yet the mines have paid well indeed for the amount of time employed working them.

Rev. Octavius Parker, pastor of the Episcopal church, has improved the appearance of the church very much. He is very popular with his parishoners and seems to be the right man in the right place.

Huckleberries are sold on our streets daily. One dollar per gallon is the price. Raspberries retail for from 50 to 75 cents per gallon. Quite a number of the latter are brought from the Cove, Union county.

J. M. Shepherd, formerly publisher of the Bedrock Democrat, and well known in Linn county as the publisher of the old Oregon Democrat of Albany, is now keeping a livery stable here, and is as happy as a duke.

Quite a number of Baker City people are spending a few weeks at Deer Creek station, a most delightful summer resort. From reports there are great numbers of trout near there or else the champion trout liar has broken loose in that region.

Great numbers of immigrants are passing daily through our town and their destination seems to be eastern Washington, and not a few are bound to southern Oregon and Yaquina bay. They are from middle, western and southern states and now and then a family from Yankeedom.

The Monmouth mine is indeed proving a bonanza to its owners. The lead is 28 feet across and can be traced for over one mile. This mine is situated due west of Baker City about 12 miles, but by the road it is about 36 miles from here. There have been a number of valuable discoveries here this summer and as soon as the railroad reaches here our mineral district will be developed and will be proven to be immensely rich.

Western Oregon.

Nine marriages in Linn county in July.

The first load of the new crop wheat was stored in Junction on the 1st inst.

The farmers' warehouse at Albany will afford storage for 100,000 bushels of grain.

Mrs. James Calaway died at her home in [illegible] ville of consumption on the 30th ult.

The brick work on the new Baptist college at McMinnville has been completed. The structure when completed will be quite an imposing one.

The possessions of the state university footed $[illegible]; of this $[illegible] is cash in the treasury and $[illegible] in cash loaned. The balance is in estimated value of lands.

A barn belonging to Albert Hendricks, on [illegible], Lane county, burned Friday night, July [illegible]. It is not known how it caught as no one had been near the building for several days, but it must have been the work of an incendiary. In the barn was stored about fifteen tons of hay, a seed drill, etc. His entire loss is about $[illegible], with no insurance.

Miss Anna Owens, who is teaching school on the Yaquina, was riding out a few days since on horseback. Meeting a wagon in a narrow place in the road she attempted to ride around it. The tall ferns had concealed the steep grade and her horse lost his footing and fell. Miss Owens jumped off on the upper side. Being unable to retain her footing she followed the horse and landed on the fern and rocks at the foot of the grade near the struggling animal. One of the men in the wagon hurried to her assistance and succeeded in rescuing her unhurt.

Southern Oregon.

More schools are in running order on the Coquille than ever before. The attendance is also much better than at any former period.

The cabin of the new steamer [illegible] will be one of the finest on any vessel ever built at Marshfield. It is finished with maple and myrtle, two of the handsomest woods that grow, and polished to a very high degree.

Fred Watson, an old resident of Coos bay, was found dead in the cabin of his scow at Marshfield last Wednesday night. He has lately been suffering from bleeding at the lungs, which was probably the indirect cause of his death.

The spring run of salmon, which has just closed in Rogue river, has been the largest, longest and most profitable ever known in the history of fishing on that river. An ice machine was put in operation to prevent the surplus catch from spoiling.

[illegible] & H. L. Dunnette have an agreement with Capt. Parker to deliver at his mill on the Coquille about 500,000 feet of fir logs, at $5.50 to $6 per thousand. The logs are to be first class and not less than 16 feet in length. They will be cut two or three miles below Norway, and delivered at the mill by or before the 1st of January next. The owners of the land receive 50 cents stumpage.

Washington Territory.

Twelve marriages took place in Walla Walla in July.

A fruit dryer and cannery is about to be built at Walla Walla.

The rain fall from the 1st of January to the 1st of August at Walla Walla this year was 10.59 inches.

The Snoqualmie route is entirely free from snow, and Yakima beef cattle are being driven into Seattle with comparatively little trouble.

The steam shingle mill at Tucanon ridge was burned to the ground on the 29th ult. The proprietors, Messrs. Titus & Davis, lose from $800 to $1200. No insurance.

Major Geo. A. Manning of Lewiston says that he recently counted over a thousand immigrant wagons between Boise City and Walla Walla, and that from Kelton to Boise the immigrants are strung along every half mile on the road.

A tree was cut at Jackson's camp on the Skagit, a few days ago, that yielded four logs of 32, 30, 30 and 26 feet, in all 118 feet in length, and measuring 71 inches on top. The logs cut from the tree scaled 24,600 feet, which, at $7 per thousand, will amount to $168.

There are 250 children of school age in the Waitsburg district. Male teachers in that district, during the past year, have received an average of $68 25 per month, female teachers, $45 per month. The estimated value of school house and grounds is $8800; expense of school last year, $1956.

The work of grading the Palouse railroad line is progressing rapidly. Thirty-five miles of road-bed graded by Steele & McBean is being utilized, and 12 or 15 miles more have been finished. Gen. Tannatt is now laying out a town site three miles this side of Colfax, for the O. I. Co., through which the proposed road will be built.

The grain in the near vicinity of Mill creek is all cut, and some threshed, the rest standing in stacks ready to be threshed as soon as machinery can be obtained. There are several fields of fall wheat along the line that average from forty to forty-five bushels per acre. There has not been a smaller yield in that section this season than thirty bushels an acre.

The entries in the Walla Walla land office, for the year ending June 30th, was as follows: Homestead, 50,925 acres; timber culture, 42,501 acres; cash entries, 45,913 acres; pre-emption, 52,300 acres; final homestead, 8601 acres; total, 209,240 acres. Whole number of entries of all kinds, 1497. The largest in any one month was in May, when the aggregate was in round numbers 31,000 acres. The land district contains 141 townships.

Walla Walla Union: George A. Evans has an 80-acre field of corn that is hard to beat. The stalks are tall, ears long and blades broad, denoting thrift. The field is highly cultivated, not a weed to be seen. It is yet perfectly green and will give a heavy yield. Farmers are adopting this method of resting their land instead of summer fallowing, claiming that they can get a corn crop and then wheat will follow it with as heavy a yield as fallow ground will produce.

On Tuesday last about noon a thunder storm started in the vicinity of Mount Rainier, moved northeasterly for about half an hour, then changed to the west, arriving directly over Olympia about 2:30 P. M. The thunder storm was immediately followed by a violent gust of wind, which broke off large limbs of trees, some of them weighing several hundred pounds, and in an instant a deluge of rain fell, the like of which has only been witnessed about twice before, since the building of the town.

The views of Oregon and Columbia river scenery made by Davidson, photographer, attract much attention and are in great demand. His gallery, corner First and Yamhill, Portland, is a busy place.

A Brutal Monster.

CHICAGO Aug 5 [illegible] the town of Lake a suburb adjoining the city on the south was arrested to-day [illegible] caused the death of an infant recently born to his wife. It seems that the couple have been living in that neighborhood about eight years and that children were born to them with unusual frequency and they mysteriously disappeared [illegible] mark among their neighbors but no direct steps were taken until yesterday. After H[illegible] was arrested he confessed that during his eight years' residence here his wife had borne eight children all of which died when very young and that whenever one died he put it in a bag carried it to the lake shore and buried it in the sand and that the bodies of eight infants were thus interred between Thirty first and Forty third streets. He says his wife consented to this disposition of them. He admits that he sometimes hit the babies but denies that he killed them. He states moreover that during his short residence in Nebraska two children were born to them and died in a like manner.

The Creek Trouble.

LITTLE ROCK Ark Aug 5—The trouble begun in the northwestern part of the Creek nation last week by the arrest of a criminal and his rescue and the murder of his jailer Capt Scott by a gang of Landsmen is not yet settled. United States Marshall Beck who was in Fort Smith yesterday gives the following view of the situation. Monday night the Landsmen's camp was at Pecan creek nine miles from Muscogee in command of a noted desperado named Dick Glass. Chief Checote of the Creek nation was in camp eighteen miles distant with 550 men and citizens are still coming to his aid. He says when the command reaches 800 he will arrest the twelve slayers of Capt Scott. Landsmen called on Agent Tufts at Muscogee who advised them to surrender the men wanted by the authorities as the only means of preventing bloodshed. This they emphatically refused to do and declared their intention to stand by their comrades to the bitter end. Great excitement prevails over the nation and as the matter now stands the Glass gang must either disperse and let Capt Scott's murderers take their chances with the officers or bloodshed will follow.

A Murderous Parent.

GRENADA, Miss Aug 5—Capt Thomas Kirkman a wealthy planter went last night to the quarters of a colored woman with whom he had been intimate for some years and brained her and her four children with an axe then took a dose of morphine and lay down in the same room. Star Route Trials.

WASHINGTON, Aug 4—Merrick said routes B on which Vail held sub contracts were originally let for $23,482, and increased to $103,895. Witness said he had agreed in the first place to see all routes started, and he had telegraphed Brady to that effect. He held either sub-contracts or drew upon all of them to secure himself. He hoped that some routes would be expedited when he took the contract, but held he had no such expectation. Hines conducted the examination. He said he did not mean to say that Miner had ever signed Peck's name to an award.

Merrick here produced a letter referring to the route from Mineral park to Pioche, and asked witness if he held that contract as trustee for S W Dorsey, John M. Peck and J Jennings.

He answered that to an extent he did, and explained the circumstances.

Merrick then, by permission of Dorsey's counsel, read Vail's letter. It informed the editor that Mr. Vail, although sub-contractor on the records, was in reality only a trustee who had agreed to draw the money and pay it over to J W and S W Dorsey, J. Jennings and others.

He declared he had faithfully paid Jennings, the real sub-contractor, for services which it appears he never rendered, and adds that Jennings and the two Dorseys were irresponsible parties from whom he could not recover money. In answer to McSweeney witness said he had never divided with the Dorseys since the spring of 1878. He had only seen Stephen Dorsey once since June last.

McSweeney—That was conspiracy at long range.

Merrick—We will bring it near enough for you.

McSweeney—Well, you have not.

This concluded Vail's testimony and the court adjourned until Monday.

A Diplomatic Story.

WASHINGTON, Aug 5—It is learned to-day that Señor Montufar, minister of Guatemala to the United States, has notified the state department of his resignation of the position he has held here. A queer story is told of the circumstances that led to his resignation. It is said that when President Barrios was here and was presented to President Arthur by Señor Montufar, the Guatemalan president immediately and bluntly proposed, through an interpreter, that President Arthur should become arbitrator for Guatemala in the settlement of the boundary dispute between that country and Mexico. The president expressed his willingness to exercise his good offices for the two countries, if both should express a desire for him to do so. President Barrios is reported to have said that it made no difference what Mexico desired, what he desired was that President Arthur should be his arbitrator. After this Barrios desired to talk with Señor Romero, the Mexican minister, on the subject; but that gentleman, not satisfied that Barrios was properly accredited, declined to confer with him. Señor Montufar was then sent to Señor Romero, to tell the Mexican minister that everybody knew Barrios to be president of Guatemala, and he needed no credentials to prove it. Señor Romero insisted that he could not join with President Barrios in requesting that office of the United States unless he was assured that the latter was empowered by the Guatemala government to make such a proposition. This message, it is reported, angered Barrios, and he vented his anger upon Señor Montufar in such language as to lead that gentleman to resign his position.

Arthur's Conscientiousness.

WASHINGTON, Aug 5—There can be no doubt that President Arthur was earnest and sincere in his veto of the river and harbor bill. His first impulse was to veto it notwithstanding he wavered at times on account of the entreaties of a great majority of congressmen and his personal friends. He never abandoned the idea and he never for a moment entertained the idea that the bill would be passed over his veto. Stories which some congressmen circulated to the effect that the president vetoed the bill only for the political advantage which the act might give him, yet at heart he hoped that it might become a law, and urged his friends to endeavor to make it a law are emphatically untrue. The attention of the president having been called yesterday to the fact that representations were made privately in the senate by those who are his friends and who have been generally assumed to be to some extent his mouthpieces that the president would really be pleased to have the bill passed, General Arthur expressed the greatest surprise and indignation. He could not at first believe the statement and to a gentleman who was calling upon him he said that he had not intimated to a mortal man a desire that the bill should be passed over his veto and he never supposed that it could be. He was told however that senators who are generally supposed to be near him and who have the entree to the White House at all hours did say in substance "the president has made all he wants to by having vetoed the bill. He will not care if the bill should now become a law. It would really be a kindness to him to pass it over his head." General Arthur sent for those who made these false representations concerning him and there is good reason to think that he called them sharply to account for so gross an assumption of authority and such willful perversion of the president's purposes. There can be no possible doubt that the president was entirely sincere in his veto of the bill and that he expected that his signature to the veto message defeated the bill. It is equally clear that some who claim to be intimates of the president have grossly misrepresented him.

Don't Like the Porte's Action.

LONDON Aug 5—The Times says the porte has the effrontery to declare his proclamation against Arabi Pasha must be contingent on his attitude after landing Turkish troops in Egypt. It is impossible therefore for England to accept or permit landing of Turkish troops in Egypt. The claim of the porte to draw on Egyptian revenues is preposterous.

Conference Postponed.

CONSTANTINOPLE Aug 5—Assim Pasha one of the Turkish delegates to the conference is indisposed and sitting of the conference appointed for to-day was countermanded. The porte sent Lord Dufferin and other European representatives a preliminary reply outside of the conference regarding the demand upon the sultan to proclaim Arabi Pasha a rebel. The porte denies the statement of Arabi Pasha that the sultan has deposed the khedive and would send troops to support the nationalists.

Lieutenant General Adie, Major Linton, Lieutenants Childers, Adie and Conroy and several officers of Gen Wolseley's staff started from Charing Cross station last evening for Egypt. They travel overland. The Duke of Cambridge commander-in-chief of the forces, and Childers secretary of state for war took leave of officers at the station. There was also present a large crowd of people who heartily cheered the officers.

In Parliament.

LONDON Aug 5—On commons going into committee of supply Moore home rule member for Clonmell moved that the passenger act required revision and reform. The motion refers to emigrants especially those going to America.

The president of the board of trade said charges made against foreign ships had to be received with caution as government could only do anything in cases of fraud and the law was already strong enough for that purpose. Moore's motion was negatived.

The chief secretary for Ireland said the reports about an impending strike of Irish constabulary were greatly exaggerated. What was to take place might occur without disturbance of order among the most loyal of peoples.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON Aug 4

Conference report on the Indian bill was adopted. Hill presented conference report on the naval appropriation bill and explained that agreements had been reached upon all the items in the dispute except that in reference to temporary closing of navy yards and transfer of perishable property and stores therefrom and the one authorizing a report to be made upon addition of land and water front for navy yards. Conference report was accepted and new conferees appointed upon the two items remaining in dispute.

Logan, Cameron of Pennsylvania, Anthony, Hampton and Jones of Florida, constituted the select committee under the recent resolution to examine and report upon heavy ordnance and projectiles.

After executive session Allison, Hale and Beck were appointed conferees on the sundry civil bill and consideration of the tax reduction bill was resumed, the question being upon Harris' amendment providing for reduction of ten per cent after January 1 1883 and an additional ten per cent after January 1 1884 upon import duties. Harris rose to discuss his proposition. He argued that the relief to be afforded by the amendment would benefit entirely the people of the country, while that of reduction of taxes under the bill amounting to about $10,000,000 would benefit only a small class. He denied the amendment would seriously prejudice any interest of the country and gave notice that he would ask for division of the question at [illegible].

Morgan rose with the evident intention of making a speech on the bill, but Cockrell asked whether the republican side intended to force a vote by a night session.

CROP REPORTS.

Minnesota Crops.

ST PAUL Aug 5—As [illegible] as nearly as it can be arrived at by [illegible] official statisticians the average of wheat in Minnesota. The drift of the reports is that the wheat crop will be one of the largest and best ever grown in the northwest. It will far exceed in quality and quantity any previous yield. Barley is of the finest quality and [illegible] alone [illegible] grains is not a first class crop. Potatoes will yield enormously. The grand total of the Minnesota wheat crop for 1882 will be less than [illegible] 000,000 bushels on an acreage of [illegible] against [illegible] 000 bushels in 1881 on an acreage of [illegible]. The largest yield is 24 bushels per acre in Carver county and 11 bushels the lowest estimate. [illegible] county will yield over three million bushels. Ottertail nearly two and a half million bushels and half a dozen yield over one million. There is some rust and chinch bugs but no grasshoppers to note. The gross product of this state and Dakota territory is estimated at fifty five or sixty million bushels of wheat. Commission men are more conservative but all agree the out yield will greatly exceed last year's and accept thirty eight millions for the state as a moderate and fair estimate. All reports concur that there is even yet a fair show for corn. The entire product of wheat along the Northern Pacific last year was [illegible] 000,000 bushels. This year it will not be less than 1[illegible],000,000.

Wisconsin Crops.

CHICAGO Aug 5—Specials from the interior of Wisconsin state the rains of the past week have injured wheat in the shock which is beginning to sprout. Spring wheat is in danger of rust but the weather to-day is excellent and the danger probably past. General manager Merrill of the St Paul railway thinks no great injury is yet done. The general feeling is that the rainy and unsettled weather is over for the present, that there is a fine prospect for a good harvest and that corn will not suffer from want of rain as the roots are deep and strong, while the ground is well moistened and ready for any amount of hot weather.

Kansas Crops.

TOPEKA Aug 5—The state board of agriculture reports the past week that the condition of the corn crop continues encouraging. No section of the state is suffering for rain. Correspondents are still correcting their wheat estimates and of the crops progress. Counties that reported eighteen to to twenty bushels per acre two weeks ago now [illegible] estimates of the secretary [illegible] at twenty five and estimates of the secretary that the crop will come up to [illegible] 000,000 bushels is probably near the [illegible] figures. All kinds of farm raisings continue in good condition and fruit and peaches are the best in our history.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK Aug 5—There is no material change to note in the freight market. Vessels [illegible] continues fairly active with [illegible] considerable inquiry for room in future ships. Delivery of freight is more general than for some time past and the outlook is considered as being excellent. Shipments are mainly coal, railroad iron and lumber which form at least one third of all cargoes and there seems to be but little difficulty in obtaining the remainder. The Dakota is now the leading ship and ought to be loaded by the tenth. Rates are steady at last quotations. Tonnage is still in limited supply while the number of vessels to arrive other than those that have already been placed is rather small.

Freights at Philadelphia not over active. The Levi C. Wade is in berth but not likely to get away inside of 30 days.

At Boston the clipper freight market is moderately active. The North America sailed early in the week and Enos Soul has taken her berth. Railroad freights at Boston have been fairly active with shipments of 380 casks canned goods 900 packages fish and 25 cases yeast powder.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON Aug 5—There is a steady demand for wool. Sales for the week amount to [illegible] 000 pounds of all kinds. Prices were well sustained for fine combing and delaine selections but clothing grades were [illegible]. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been moderate at 40@41½c choice 42 [illegible] is about all that can be obtained for X and XX fleeces. Michigan X has been in fair demand with sales at [illegible]. Unwashed fleeces have been [illegible] steady [illegible] good [illegible] at [illegible] for fine and medium grades and [illegible] for low and [illegible] combing and delaine selections at [illegible] principally at [illegible] Michigan and Ohio [illegible] delaine and [illegible] combing. California wool has been [illegible] and sales small at 20@25½ for spring and [illegible] pounds fall at 13½. Pulled wools have been in good demand and steady. Sales of choice eastern and Maine supers 4[illegible] common to good supers 2[illegible]. Australian wool has been selling at 38@45 as to quality. Cape Montevideo and carpet wools have been inactive and remain unchanged.

Liverpool Grain Market.

LIVERPOOL Aug 5—A leading weekly grain circular says wheat continues quiet, cargoes slightly steadier. Business however has been almost wholly confined to a few parcels of American winters which are rather dearer. [illegible] were [illegible] active and prices declined 1d. Moderate business was done in wheat after Tuesday and unchanged prices. Mixed corn was strong and dearer at to-day's market. There was a thin attendance. Moderate business was transacted in wheat at late rates. New [illegible] winters were 1d lower and [illegible] dearer. [illegible] was [illegible] tive and [illegible] Corn with prospect of limited supplies was somewhat higher.

San Francisco Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO Aug [illegible]—Wheat is quiet and firmly held at $1 [illegible] per cental. With very little business to report. Exporters still being very reluctant purchasers.

Army Worms Damaging Cotton.

ST LOUIS Aug 5—Army worms are [illegible] very bad in Arkansas and Tennessee and [illegible] cotton.

OUR

RED LETTER SALE

Commences To-Day.

We have made substantial reductions in the prices of our Clothing and to convince the most skeptical that we HAVE DONE SO we invite them to inspect our stock and see for themselves. In RED INK we have marked our selling prices which will show a reduction ranging from $2 50 to $5 per suit in both Men's and Boys' Clothing. This reduction applies to our entire stock of Clothing. A heavy Fall Stock, to arrive in the course of a few weeks and lack of room for it is our reason for reducing prices—thus enabling purchasers to procure reliable merchandise below the market price.

A LIE NAILED.

JULY 17, 1882—10.22 A. M.

Michalitschke Brothers & Co. advertise in the Oregonian that for reasons best known to themselves they have discontinued our agency, and offer their San Francisco Chinese-made Cigars in competition.

In response to same we beg to inform the public that, for good and sufficient reasons, WE CANCELED THEIR ORDERS standing on our books on the 8th day of May last, and REFUSED TO SELL THEM any further, or have anything further to do with them, their application to us notwithstanding. This is where the shoe pinches; hence their animosity.
